

Planning and Recall With Older Toddlers

with Chris

Have you ever tried to implement a formal Planning and Recall time with older toddlers and thought “Where do I begin?”

As children approach 24 months they begin to develop ways to communicate their intentions and recollections through gestures, actions or words. As teachers you see signs that tell you children are ready to participate in a formal Planning and Recall.

In this training we will discuss the importance of Planning and Recall, identify the progression of Planning and Recall and discuss concrete support strategies to use in your classroom.
